Dear Pat:

Jonathon Wilson recommended I reach out to you. I had the pleasure of collaborating with him on a national literacy campaign that garnered a Webbie Award and was embraced by 10 of the largest school districts in the United States. It was an exciting project with multiple phases and partners. Jonathon and I both agreed that delivering this project to completion was incredibly rewarding!

I'm reaching out in hopes of scheduling a time to discuss how I could support MacMead's impressive and continued growth within the online curriculum space. As a licensed teacher who pivoted to the online classroom during the pandemic, I bring in-depth experience. As The Teacher's Place Founder and Social Media Director, I grew an online education products and curriculum site to reach >300K followers, launched a successful podcast (one of Online Educator magazine's "10 Top New Podcasts of 2019"), and developed partnerships with engaged brand evangelists and corporate/education partners.

If your strategic focus for 2022 includes an expanded and enhanced social media presence to support and drive your business results, let's talk. As a long-time fan who has incorporated MacMead products in the classroom (and has written several positive product reviews on The Teacher's Place blog), I believe I have the experience, social media experience, and subject matter expertise to quickly add value and help shape MacMead's future path.

Thanks in advance for your time. I look forward to hopefully hearing from you soon.

With best wishes,

Hannah Bryant
